DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-18 are pending in the instant application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The claims are drawn to compositions comprising a bioactive agent covalently conjugated to a cobalt atom in an organocobalt complex, through any non-reactive atom in the bioactive agent molecule, wherein the bioconjugated bioactive agent is optionally cleaved from the organocobalt complex via a self destructing linker.

The specification and claims do not describe elements that are essential the genus comprising a covalent conjugated non-reactive atom in the bioactive agent molecule, whereby it is covalently conjugated to the cobalt atom of the organocobalt complex, and further whereby the bioactive agent is cleaved from the complex via a self destructing linker. The specification and claims do not indicate what distinguishing attributes are concisely shared by the members of the genera comprising covalently conjugated cobalt atoms and bioactive agent molecules in any and/or all organocobalt complexes. The disclosure does not clarify what common attributes are encompassed by covalent conjugates of bioactive agents. Thus, the scope of the claims includes numerous structural variants and the genera are highly variant a significant number of structural differences between members of a given genus is permitted. Concise structural features that could distinguish structures or compounds within a genus from others are missing from the disclosure. No common structural attributes identify the members of the genus comprising covalent cobalt atom-bioactive agent molecules involving a non-reactive atom in the bioactive agent. The general knowledge and level of skill in the art do not supplement the omitted description because specific, not general guidance is what is needed. The specification fails to teach or adequately describe a representative number of species in each genera such that the common attributes or characteristics concisely identifying members of the proposed genus are exemplified and because the genus is highly variant, the description provided is insufficient. One of skill in the art would reasonably conclude that the disclosure fails to provide a representative number of species to describe the genus claimed. Thus, Applicant was not in possession of the claimed genera.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321© may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-18 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-28 of U.S. Patent No. 6,315,978. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims are drawn to bioconjugates of bioactive agents and organocobalt complexes covalently conjugated to the cobalt atom through a non-reactive atom in the bioactive agent molecule.
